JOSEPH CHIDI ANORUO,

Plaintiff,

v.

ERIC K. SHINSEKI, Secretary of Veteran Affairs,

Defendant.

Case No. 2:11-cv-02070-MMD-CWH

ORDER

(Def.'s Motion to Dismiss – dkt. no. 9)
(Plf.'s Motion for Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint – dkt. no. 12)

I. SUMMARY

Before the Court is Defendant Shinseki's Motion to Dismiss (dkt. no. 9), and Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint (dkt. no. 12). For reasons discussed below, Defendant's Motion is granted with prejudice and Plaintiff's Motion is denied.

II. BACKGROUND

Pro se Plaintiff Joseph Anoruo is a pharmacist and employee¹ of the Department of Veteran Affairs ("DVA"). On December 22, 2011, Plaintiff filed a Complaint alleging that Defendant discriminated against him on the basis of national origin in violation of ¹It is unclear from the facts provided in the Complaint whether Plaintiff is a current or former employee of the DVA.

1 Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. (Dkt. no. 1.) Plaintiff alleges that while employed
2 with the DVA, he experienced three instances of discrimination: (1) the DVA denied his
3 application for the Education Department Reduction Program; (2) Plaintiff was not
4 selected for a pharmacy supervisory position at the Mike O'Callaghan Federal Hospital;
5 and (3) Plaintiff experienced discrimination when authorities at the DVA closed down
6 Plaintiff's pharmacy infectious disease clinic. Plaintiff alleges that these actions amount
7 to disparate treatment and retaliation under Title VII.

8 On March 30, 2012, Defendant filed a Motion to Dismiss, claiming that all of 9 Plaintiff's allegations must be dismissed because Plaintiff has not exhausted his 10 administrative remedies. Plaintiff filed a hybrid Response and Motion for Leave to File a 11 Second Amended Complaint (dkt. no. 12). In his Motion, Plaintiff states that he intends 12 to "reformulate the content and form" of his First Amended Complaint ("FAC"). (Dkt. no.
13 12 at 7.) Defendant counters by arguing that Plaintiff's proposed Second Amended
14 Complaint ("SAC") contains two time-barred claims and two additional claims that are 15 also without merit.

16 III. DISCUSSION

17 A. Legal Standard

18 A court may dismiss a plaintiff's complaint for "failure to state a claim upon which 19 relief can be granted." Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). A properly pled complaint must provide 20 "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief."
21 Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2); Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). While 22 Rule 8 does not require detailed factual allegations, it demands more than "labels and 23 conclusions" or a "formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action." Ashcroft v.
24 Iqbal, 556 US 662, 678 (2009) (citing Papasan v. Allain, 478 U.S. 265, 286 (1986)).
25 "Factual allegations must be enough to rise above the speculative level." Twombly, 550
26 U.S. at 555. Thus, to survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient
27 factual matter to "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 28 678 (internal citation omitted).

1 In Iqbal, the Supreme Court clarified the two-step approach district courts are to
 2 apply when considering motions to dismiss. First, a district court must accept as true all
 3 well-pled factual allegations in the complaint; however, legal conclusions are not entitled
 4 to the assumption of truth. Id. at 679. Mere recitals of the elements of a cause of action,
 5 supported only by conclusory statements, do not suffice. Id. at 678. Second, a district
 6 court must consider whether the factual allegations in the complaint allege a plausible
 7 claim for relief. Id. at 679. A claim is facially plausible when the plaintiff's complaint
 8 alleges facts that allow a court to draw a reasonable inference that the defendant is 9 liable for the alleged misconduct. Id. at 678. Where the complaint does not permit the 10 court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has "alleged—
 11 but not shown—that the pleader is entitled to relief." Id. at 679 (internal quotation marks 12 omitted). When the claims in a complaint have not crossed the line from conceivable to 13 plausible, the complaint must be dismissed. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570.

14 A complaint must contain either direct or inferential allegations concerning "all the 15 material elements necessary to sustain recovery under some viable legal theory."
 16 Twombly, 550 U.S. at 562 (quoting Car Carriers, Inc. v. Ford Motor Co., 745 F.2d 1101, 17 1106 (7th Cir. 1989) (emphasis in original)).

18 B. Plaintiff Has Failed to Exhaust his Administrative Remedies

19 "To establish federal subject matter jurisdiction, a plaintiff is required to exhaust
 20 his or her administrative remedies before seeking adjudication of a Title VII claim."
 21 Lyons v. England, 307 F.3d 1092, 1103 (9th Cir. 2002). "Exhaustion of administrative 22 remedies under Title VII requires that the complainant file a timely charge with the 23 EEOC, thereby allowing the agency time to investigate the charge." Id.

24 In order to exhaust administrative remedies, federal employees like Plaintiff must 25 first consult with an Equal Employment Opportunity ("EEO") counselor within forty-five
 26 (45) days of the alleged discriminatory incident(s). If the matter is not resolved, a plaintiff
 27 must file a formal administrative complaint with the agency that allegedly discriminated
 28 against him within fifteen (15) days of receiving notice from the EEO counselor. See 29

1 C.F.R. § 1614.105(a), (d); 29 C.F.R. § 1614.106(a), (b). Failure to comply with these 2 requirements is “fatal to a federal employee’s discrimination claim.” Lyons, 307 F.3d at 3 1105 (citation omitted).

4 The three allegedly discriminatory events described in Plaintiff’s FAC occurred on 5 May 24, 2004 (denial of Plaintiff’s application for the Education Department Reduction
6 Program), September 9, 2007 (closure of a pharmacy infectious disease clinic), and May 7 18, 2009 (non-selection for a pharmacy supervisory position at the Mike O’Callaghan
8 Federal Hospital). All parties agree that Plaintiff did not contact an EEO officer until July
9 30, 2010, well outside the forty-five day required timeframe. See 29 C.F.R. §
10 1614.105(a)(1). Plaintiff argues that the 45-day window to consult with an EEO officer
11 should be measured from the date that the DVA cut off all communications with him,
12 which was June 24, 2010. However, the timeframe for corresponding with the EEO
13 runs from the date of the allegedly discriminatory act, not the last date of communication
14 with the allegedly discriminatory person or agency. See id.

15 Nor is Plaintiff entitled to equitable tolling of his claims. Plaintiff argues that he is 16 entitled to equitable tolling because the DVA actively misled him regarding whether it
17 would provide him an internal remedy. (Dkt. no. 12 at 5.) The Ninth Circuit recognizes
18 equitable tolling when (1) the defendant has engaged in wrongful conduct; or (2)
19 extraordinary circumstances make it impossible for the plaintiff to timely assert a claim.
20 Torres v. County of Lyon, No. 3:07-cv-538, 2009 WL 905046, at *5-6 (D. Nev. March 31, 21 2009). “Wrongful conduct” consists of a defendant’s fraudulent concealment of relevant 22 facts without any fault or lack of due diligence by the plaintiff.” Id. at 5 (citation omitted).
23 Plaintiff fails to plead any facts giving rise to an inference that the DVA fraudulently
24 concealed whether it would provide him with an internal remedy. Further, Plaintiff’s
25 decision not to contact an EEO officer until 2010 demonstrates a lack of due diligence on 26 his part. The allegations in the FAC demonstrate that Plaintiff had been in discussion
27 with various officials at DVA for 7-8 years before bringing this lawsuit. Despite this,
28 Plaintiff did not contact an EEO counselor until June 2010.

1 For these reasons, Plaintiff's Title VII claims against Defendant are dismissed with 2 prejudice.

3 C. Allowing Plaintiff to file a SAC Would be Futile

4 In his proposed SAC, Plaintiff alleges what are essentially the same two Title VII
 5 causes of action as he alleged in his FAC. (Dkt. no. 12 at 14.) As such, allowing Plaintiff
 6 to allege the two Title VII causes of action included in his proposed SAC would be futile.
 7 Although leave to amend a complaint is liberally granted under Fed. R. Civ. P. 15, "leave 8 to amend need not be granted if the proposed amended complaint would subject to 9 dismissal." Bellanger v. Health Plan of Nev., Inc., 814 F. Supp. 914, 916 (D. Nev. 1992)
 10 (citing United Union of Roofers, Waterproofers, and Allied Trades No. 40 v. Insurance
 11 Corp. of Am., 919 F.2d 1398 (9th Cir.1990); see also Johnson v. Am. Airlines, 834 F.2d
 12 721 (9th Cir. 1987) (stating that "courts have discretion to deny leave to amend a
 13 complaint for 'futility', and futility includes the inevitability of a claim's defeat on summary
 14 judgment.")

15 In his proposed SAC, Plaintiff adds two additional causes of action: (1) breach of 16 employment contract between Plaintiff and the United States amounting to $62,518.94 in 17 damages; and (2) a common law theory of unjust enrichment.

18 The unjust enrichment claim is futile because the United States has not waived its 19 sovereign immunity for quasi-contractual claims such as unjust enrichment. See Am.
 20 Cargo Transport, Inc. v. United States, No. CO5-393, 2007 WL 3171423, at *4 (W.D.
 21 Wash. Oct. 26, 2007) (citing as grounds for dismissal of a plaintiff's unjust enrichment
 22 claim the fact that "the government has not waived its sovereign immunity as to causes 23 of action based on contracts implied by law, i.e., quasi-contract").

24 The Court does not have jurisdiction over the proposed breach of contract claim.
 25 This is because the Court of Federal Claims has jurisdiction over claims against the 26 United States for more than $10,000. Munoz v. Mabus, 630 F.3d 856, 864 (9th Cir.
 27 2010). It is true that Plaintiff may have a colorable breach of contract claim. Defendant
 28 argues that this cause of action is time-barred. Breach of contract claims against the

1 United States are governed by a six year statute of limitations. 28 U.S.C. § 2501
2 ("[e]very claim of which the United States Court of Federal Claims has jurisdiction shall
3 be barred unless the petition thereon is filed within six years after such claim first 4 accrues.") Plaintiff alleges that the breach of contract occurred in 2010. (Dkt. no. 12 at ¶
5 50.) Defendant argues that this was clearly not the case based on Plaintiff's Complaint.
6 On review, the Court disagrees. It is unclear from the Complaint when the date of the 7 alleged breach of contract occurred. However, it would be improper for Plaintiff to bring 8 such a claim in this Court. The proper venue for this claim is the Court of Federal 9 Claims.

10 For these reasons, it would be futile for Plaintiff to file any of the causes of actions
11 alleged in his proposed SAC in this Court. The Motion is accordingly denied.

12 III. CONCLUSION

13 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendant's Motion to Dismiss (dkt. no. 9) is 14 GRANTED with prejudice.

15 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File a SAC (dkt.
16 no. 12) is DENIED.

17 The Clerk of the Court is directed to close this matter.
